Apple Services at Work

For nearly three decades, The Ergonomic Group (EGI) has worked side-by-side with customers to leverage technology in assessing, understanding and resolving the business and technology issues facing their organizations. As a truly service-driven partner, EGI's ultimate goal is to provide exactly what's needed to help your business transition towards an Apple environment. EGI has the capabilities to bring MAC OSX systems and iOS devices into your environment as you implement the deployment of mobile devices across your entire network. Together we can create solutions that will solve your company's pain points.

Let us help as you bring Apple solutions into your business environment and incorporate the tools to make your business stand out, stay productive, secure, while running smoothly with your current technology investments.

Sales & Technical Support

EGI's staff is a highly trained team that will assist you from implementation all the way through delivery of your Apple solutions. As an Apple Value Added Reseller, EGI will review your best options to help you choose the most appropriate solutions while allowing you to get the most value from your technology investment. Feel free to reach out to our team of Engineers, Sales, and Product Managers to help you choose your solution.

Integration & Implementation

EGI offers an employee purchase plan with your company to help you maintain, manage, and secure the devices from the outside.

Roll-Outs & Deployment

EGI delivers an operational advantage for our clients as we can provide standards & Configuration Management with a custom catalog of thousands of items that are updated nightly. This will solve your workflow with real-time order management and up to the minute tracking on Service & Maintenance - asset tracking, maintenance, delivery scheduling, IMAC Services Tracking, SLA performance metrics, warranty tracking and easily integrates into legacy procurement solutions.

Apple Technical Provider

Certified Technicians and Product Professionals are ready to assist you in implementing and managing your Apple environment.
